VOLUME IV INDEX

NO. 1, SPRING 1991 1-118
NO. 2, SUMMER 1991 119-266
NO. 3, FALL 1991 267-360
NO. 4, WINTER 1991 361-470

A

Adult development theory: and retirement, 60-63; and women, 67-71
"Approaches to Succession in East Asian Business Organizations," 161-179
"Are Family Businesses Really Different? European Experiences from STRATOS," 149-160
Articles: "Approaches to Succession in East Asian Business Organizations," 161-179; "Are Family Businesses Really Different? European Experiences from STRATOS," 149-160; "Assessing the Successor Generation in Family Businesses," 397-411; "Customer Service: Does Family Ownership Make a Difference?" 303-324; "Drawbacks of a Dual Systems Approach to Family Firms: Can We Expand Our Thinking?" 393-395; "Family Enterprises in the United Kingdom, the Federal Republic of Germany, and Spain: A Transnational Comparison," 191-203; "Internationalizing the Family Business: Facilitating and Restraining Factors," 181-190; "The Interplay of Family System and Business System in Family Farms During Economic Recession," 45-57; "Interpreting the Discourses of Family Business," 367-381; "A Legal Perspective on Shareholder Relationships in Family Businesses: The Scope of Fiduciary Duties," 287-301; "Outside Boards and Family Businesses: Another Look," 269-285; "Penetrating the Cycle of Sustained Conflict," 21-44; "A Relationship Perspective on the Couple-Owned Business," 413-424; "Research Note: The Impact of Home-Based Business on Family Life," 425-432; "Sibling Relationships and Intergenerational Succession in Family Firms," 3-20; "Understanding and Working with Leading Family Businesses in Latin America," 127-147
"Assessing the Successor Generation in Family Businesses," 397-411

B

Barnes, L. B., "Outside Boards and Family Businesses: Another Look," 269-285
Barton, S. L., review by, 353-356
Berliner, K., review by, 463-466
Boards of directors: compensation, 292-293; conduct, 290-300; conflicts of interest issues, 292-293; and duty of care, 290-291; and duty of loyalty, 291-294; and family members, 278-279; internationalization, 185; and Latin American grupos, 143-144; litigation issues, 290-294; performance failure, 289; and reasonable expectations concept, 298-300; and shareholder power, 289-290; structure, 272-277; value, 277-279. See also Outside boards
Bonding: couple, 418; sibling, 400-403
Book Reviews: Crested Kimono: Power and Love in the Japanese Business Family, 263-265; The Essence of a Family Business, 356-359; Father, Son & Co.: My Life at IBM and Beyond, 353-356; The Power of the Family, 113-117; The Second Shift: Working Parents and the Revolution at Home, 463-466; Traits of a Healthy Family, 113-117; You Just Don't Understand: Women and Men in Conversation, 466-470
Boundaries: clarity, 390-391; defined, 389; and interconnections, 389-391; permeability, 390; and structure vs. process, 389
British family businesses: change of control, 245-257; control issues, 243-244; control position of top, 250, 244-245; family controlled, 247-250; finance capital controlled, 241-242, 252-257; growth stages, 233-242; industrial capital controlled, 251-252; and industrialist/financier conflict, 239-240; ownership/control (study), 231-258; professional management controlled, 250–251; transnational (European) study, 192–201

British family businesses (continued)
Brown, B. M., review by, 113–117
Brown, F. H., "Drawbacks of a Dual Systems Approach to Family Firms: Can We Expand Our Thinking?" 393–395
Buchholz, B. B., "Is Kohler Company Bathing in Paternalism?" 325–336
Budge, C. S., "Interpreting the Discourses of Family Business," 367–381
Bukowitz, W., review by, 466–470
Business: discourse, 368–375; family interaction, 434–435; professionalism code, 387–388; and storytelling, 367–368; and therapists, 441. See also Family businesses
Business/family discourses: and career choice, 373–375; deconstructiveness, 369–370; dynamics, 369; hystericization, 378; matching, 378; and money, 371–373; origins, 368–369; and time, 370–371
Business judgment rule, 291

C

Capital: finance, 252–257; industrial, 251–252
Careers: and discourse of choice, 373–375; European vs. American, 373–374; and identity, 373; language of, 374–375; managers, 347; as personality expression, 374
Change: death as, 116; family response to, 452–453, 459–461; and internationalization, 182–183; and strategic management model, 182–183; and systems theory, 419; and working women, 463
Chau, T. T., "Approaches to Succession in East Asian Business Organizations," 161–179
Chief executive officers (CEOs): European (interview), 205–223; grupos, 140; and outside boards, 279–284. See also Entrepreneurs; Proprietors
Chinese family businesses: coparcenary and primogeniture succession, 163–165; historical setting, 170–171; and nonfamily members, 165; societal setting, 171–173; succession system economic impact, 166–169
Classics: "Families, Firms, and Finance Capital: The Development of U.K. Industrial Firms with Particular Reference to Their Ownership and Control," 231–261; "The Family and the Firm: A Coevolutionary Perspective," 445–461; "Law in the Development of Dynastic Families Among American Business Elites: The Domestication of Capital and the Capitalization of Family," 75–111; "Proprietorial Control in Family Firms: Some Functions of 'Quasi-Organic' Management Systems," 337–352
Closely held businesses: compensation issues, 292–293; conflicts-of-interest issues, 292–293; disputes involving principals, 288–289. See also Corporations; Family businesses
Coevolution, 447–448
Company towns, 335–336
Conflict: and bonding, 418; circular (systemic), 24; cycle, 21; family, 32–33, 300–301, 451–452, 458; and human systems, 23; and negotiation simulations/organizational norms, 15; related-party (within-system), 23–24; sibling, 8–9, 14–15, 400–403; values, 316, 319; within-group vs. between-group, 22–23
Conflict resolution: and equilibration, 28–32; models, 21–22; rational communications/interactions, 24–28; and sibling rivalry, 8–9, 14–15; and win/win solutions, 23–24. See also Sustained conflict cycle model
Consultants: and client behavior, 393; and conflict resolution, 21; European, 221–222; and family farms, 55–56; and family language, 441–442; and family script, 376; and gender issues, 439; and hystericization, 378; interaction framework, 376–378; interview, 433–443; listening/language-centered, 378–380; and ownership transfer intervention criteria, 409–410; position shifting, 375–376; and sibling issues, 12–17, 399–408; and specialist discourses, 377–378; sustained conflict cycle interventions, 37–41; and systemic model, 422–423; and therapists, 41–43; wrongful conduct, 300–301. See also Experts; Therapists

Control: assessment, 242–244; corporate stages, 238–239; defined, 242; family, 247–250; finance capital, 241–242, 252–257; industrial capital, 251–252; professional management, 250–251; proprietory, 339–340, 350; types, 244
"Conversation with Stephan Schmidheiny, A," 205–223
Copreneurs, 414
Corporations: dissolution, 296–297; power division, 288–289
Couple relationships: behavioral exchange approach, 417–418; and communication, 466–467, 470; and couple-owned firms (case example), 415–417; and developmental-interactional paradigm, 420–423; and gender ideology/culture, 464–468; and interdependence, 414–415; and interpersonal bonding, 418; and parenting subsystem, 450; and spousal subsystems, 449–450; systems theory approach, 418–420; and triangling, 450–451. See also Family
Couple-owned businesses: and couple dynamics (case study), 415–417; and couple relationship theory, 417–423; and golden egg fable, 413; problems, 414; and relationship interdependence, 414–415; success determinants, 414, 422
Crane, M., "Is Kohler Company Bathing in Paternalism?" 325–336
Crested Kimono: Power and Love in the Japanese Business Family, reviewed, 263–265

Culture. See Family: culture
Curran, D., Traits of a Healthy Family, reviewed, 113–117
Customer service: and abusive customers, 319; benefits, 314–315; and business ownership, 305–306, 309, 315; customer impact, 311, 314; employee impact, 311; environment, 310–311, 319–320; and family values/experiences, 307, 309–310, 316–318; family vs. nonfamily businesses (study), 304–323; formal vs. informal policies, 306–307, 318; and manager philosophy, 320; policy changes, 315–316; practices, 307–308; and values conflict, 316, 319
"Customer Service: Does Family Ownership Make a Difference?" 303–324

D

Davidow, T., interview, 433–443
Dispute resolution. See Conflict resolutions
Donckels, R., "Are Family Businesses Really Different? European Experiences from STRATOS," 149–160
"Drawbacks of a Dual Systems Approach to Family Firms: Can We Expand Our Thinking?" 393–395
Dual systems approach: alternatives, 391–393, 446; defined, 383; drawbacks, 384–391; and interpersonal dynamics, 387–389; and subsystem boundaries, 389–391; and subsystem stereotyping, 384–386
Duty of care, 290–291

E

East Asian family businesses, 161–177, 263–265
Effectiveness, 17–18
Employees: and paternalism, 326–330; trustworthiness, 310–311, 319–320
Entrepreneurs: family vs. nonfamily, 155; and father/son issues, 353–354; industrial, 236–237; intellectual style, 155; management structure, 342; and outside boards, 283–284; strategic behavior, 156–158; values/attitudes, 156. See also Chief executive officers (CEOs)
Essence of a Family Business, The, reviewed, 356–359
European family businesses, 151–160; interview, 205–223; transnational study, 149–160, 191–201
Experts, 348–349. See also Consultants

F

"Families, Firms, and Finance Capital: The Development of U.K. Industrial Firms with Particular Reference to Their Ownership and Control," 231–261
Familism, 161–162
Family: boundary issues, 389–390; and business coevolution, 447–448; and business interaction, 434–435; and change, 452–453, 459–461; communication, 12; conflict, 32–33, 300–301; conflict management, 451–452, 458; crisis prevention guidelines, 460–461; culture, 451–453, 458–459; defined, 114–115; discourse, 368–375; disruption, 428, 430–431; dynamics, 9–11, 439–440; effect of business on, 454–459; and emotional processes, 387–388, 452; European vs. American, 373–374; farms, 47–55; and gender ideology, 464–465; and grupos, 134–135, 136–137, 139–140, 142–143; healthy, 113–114; and individuation, 452, 458–459; international characteristics, 188–189; Japanese, 264–265; love, 115; mission statements, 300; myths/realities, 453–454, 459; organization, 449–451; and outside directors, 278–280; parenting subsystem, 450, 455–456; purpose, 448–449; as shareholders, 288; sibling subsystem, 450, 456–458; spouse subsystems, 449–450, 455–456; system, 448–449; time, 370–371; work system, 387. See also Couple relationships

Family (continued)

"Family and the Firm: A Coevolutionary Perspective, The," 445–461

Family business consultants. See Consultants

Family/business formations: beneficiaries, 93; capital accumulation, 78–79, 107; development, 79–106; drop-outs/noninheriting relatives, 93; family member managers/leaders, 92–93; and family name, 101; family/nonfamily membership roles, 92–94; first-/second-generation transition, 81; Galveston background, 81–82; historic/processual model, 76, 79–81; and insiders/outsiders, 96–97, 99; Kempner example, 83, 87–89, 94–97, 102–103; law, 76–107; litigation, 97–98, 102–104; Moody example, 83, 89–91, 97–99, 103–106; nonfamily personnel, 93–94; second-/third-generation transition, 83–87; surrogates, 77, 83–87, 92–94; third-/fourth-generation transition, 92–94; trusts, 88–89, 94–95; wills, 86–87

Family Business Network (FBN): board, 226–227; first-year activities, 228; origins, 225–227; role, 229; services, 228–229

Family businesses: benefits, 357; and change, 116; characteristics, 158–159; and communication, 440; as construct, 376; corporate control stages, 238–239; defined, 181–182, 270, 288; discussion forums, 12; dual systems approach, 383–386, 446; East Asian, 161–177; effectiveness, 17–18; European, 151–160; and experts, 348–349; family/organizational system overlap, 10; and family relationships, 388; and family systems theory, 383; and gender issues, 465–466; and general systems theory, 391; holistic model, 149–151; human agency role, 350; internationalization, 124; Latin American, 127–146; leadership, 357; and love, 115; misconceptions, 442–443; new products, 358; open systems approach, 445–446; organic vs. mechanistic management, 340–342; and outside directors (study), 271–284; ownership/control, 231–232; and privatization/deregulation, 222–223; problems, 288–290, 445–446; profit sharing, 358; proprietorial control of management (study), 338–349; public relations, 358–359; red-flagged, 393; responsibility/power, 115–116; single-entity model, 391–393; stereotyping, 384–386; structural features, 18–19; succession issues, 348; transnational (European) comparison (study), 191–202. See also British family businesses; Business; Chinese family businesses; Closely held businesses; Corporations; Couple-owned businesses; Family/business formations; German family businesses; Home-based businesses; Japanese family businesses; Latin America: family businesses; Spanish family businesses

Family councils, 142–143

"Family Enterprises in the United Kingdom, the Federal Republic of Germany, and Spain: A Transnational Comparison," 191–203

Family farms: background, 45–46; and consultants, 55–56; and economic recession (study), 49–56; establishing, 50; expansion for offspring, 51; and family/business systems, 54–55; and family help during crisis, 53; and intergenerational transfer, 55; in 1980s, 46–47; offspring and hard economic times, 47–48; and payments to parents, 52–53; present-day obstacles, 46; and retirement, 47–49; risky investments, 51–52; vulnerability, 51–53

Family firms. See Family businesses
Family therapists: and sustained conflict cycle (example), 32–37; systems approach to family business conflict, 287. See also Therapists
Father, Son & Co.: My Life at IBM and Beyond, reviewed, 353–356
Father-son/father-daughter relationships, 353–354, 456–458
Features: "A Conversation with Stephan Schmidheiny," 205–223; "Integrating Family and Business Perspectives: A Conversation with Tom Davidow and Richard Narva," 433–443; "Introducing the Family Business Network," 225–230; "Is Kohler Company Bathing in Paternalism?" 325–336; "On Retirement: A Conversation with Daniel Levinson," 59–73
Fiduciary duties: board of directors, 290–294; of care, 290–291; of fairness, 294; of loyalty, 291–294; shareholder, 294–296
Francis, A., "Families, Firms, and Finance Capital: The Development of U.K. Industrial Firms with Particular Reference to Their Ownership and Control," 231–261
Friedman, S. D., "Sibling Relationships and Intergenerational Succession in Family Firms," 3–20
Frishkoff, P. A., review by, 114–117
Frlich, E., "Are Family Businesses Really Different? European Experiences from STRATOS," 149–160

G

Gallo, M. A., "Internationalizing the Family Business: Facilitating and Restraining Factors," 181–190
Galveston (Tex.) family/business formations, 81–107
Geiser, L. R., review by, 356–359
Gender issues: and consultants, 439; and couple ideology, 464–468; family business, 465–466; grupos, 145; leadership, 468–469; and retirement, 71–73. See also Father-son/father-daughter relationships; Women
German family businesses (study), 192–201
Goffee, R., "Proprietorial Control in Family Firms: Some Functions of 'Quasi-Organic' Management Systems," 337–352
Grupos (Latin American family businesses): business environment, 133–134, 135–136, 138–139; CEOs, 140; characteristics, 129–131; consultants, 146; defined, 127; dilemmas, 131–140; economic conditions, 131–135; environmental influences, 128–129; family council, 142–143; family matters, 134–135, 136–137, 139–140, 142–143; family meetings, 144–145; gender issues, 145; governance, 142–144; outside directors, 143–144; ownership, 131–133, 135, 137–138; political conditions, 135–137; process interventions, 144–146; sociocultural conditions, 137–140; strengths, 140–141; stressors/interventions, 141–146; succession issues, 144–145

H

Hamabata, M. M., Crested Kimono: Power and Love in the Japanese Business Family, reviewed, 263–265
Hochschild, A., The Second Shift: Working Parents and the Revolution at Home, reviewed, 463–466
Home-based businesses: and family disruption, 428, 430–431; study, 426–431; and worker-manager demographics, 430
Human systems. See Social systems

I

IBM, 353–355
"Integrating Family and Business Perspectives: A Conversation with Tom Davidow and Richard Narva," 433–443
Intergenerational transfer: of control, 353–354; and family farms, 55. See also Succession

International Program for Family Businesses (IPFB), 226
Internationalization: benefits, 192; as change, 182–183; and company culture, 186–187; and company developmental stage, 187–188; facilitating factors, 186; and family business organization/structure, 185–186; and family international characteristics, 188–189; requirements, 124; strategy/objectives, 183–184
"Internationalizing the Family Business: Facilitating and Restraining Factors," 181–190
"Interplay of Family System and Business System in Family Farms During Economic Recession, The," 45–57
"Interpreting the Discourses of Family Business," 367–381
"Introducing the Family Business Network," 225–230
"Is Kohler Company Bathing in Paternalism?" 325–336

J

Janoff, R. W., "Interpreting the Discourses of Family Business," 367–381
Japanese family businesses: coparcenary/primogeniture succession patterns, 163–165; economic impact of succession, 166–169; and family life, 264–265; historical setting, 169–170; nonfamily members, 165–166; societal setting, 171–173
Johnson, S. C., The Essence of a Family Business, reviewed, 356–359

K

Kadis, L. B., "A Relationship Perspective on the Couple-Owned Business," 413–424
Kaye, K., "Penetrating the Cycle of Sustained Conflict," 21–44
Kepner, E., "The Family and the Firm: A Coevolutionary Perspective," 445–461
Kohler Company, 325–335
Kohler, H. V., Jr., interviewed, 324–335

L

Language: activity/identity, 373; and career choice, 374–375; defined, 368; family business as, 376; and family business consultants, 441–442; money as, 371, 373
Lank, A. G., "A Conversation with Stephan Schmidheiny," 205–223; "Introducing the Family Business Network," 225–230
Lansberg, I., "On Retirement: A Conversation with Daniel Levinson," 59–73; "Understanding and Working with Leading Family Businesses in Latin America," 127–147
Latin America: cultural heritage, 128–129; economic environment, 128; family businesses, 127–146; political instability, 128. See also Grupos (Latin American family businesses)
Latin American family businesses, 127–146
Law: and business capital, 78–19, 107; and family/business formations, 76–107; and group processes, 78; and social structure forms, 76–77. See also Litigation
"Law in the Development of Dynastic Families Among American Business Elites: The Domestication of Capital and the Capitalization of Family," 75–111
Leadership: defined, 357; gender issues, 468–469; retirement, 64–65; successor, 406–408
"Legal Perspective on Shareholder Relationships in Family Businesses: The Scope of Fiduciary Duties, A," 287–301
Levinson, D., interview, 59–73
Litigation: and business judgment rule, 291; corporate dissolution, 296–297; dissolution alternatives, 297–300; duty of care, 290–291; duty of fairness, 294–296; duty of loyalty, 291–294; and reasonable expectations concept, 298–300; and reasonableness concept, 292; and shareholders/boards of directors, 289–294. See also Law
Lyman, A. R., "Customer Service: Does Family Ownership Make a Difference?" 303–324

M

McClendon, R., "A Relationship Perspective on the Couple-Owned Business," 413–424

Maching, A., The Second Shift: Working Parents and the Revolution at Home, reviewed, 463–466
Malkin, R., "Integrating Family and Business Perspectives: A Conversation with Tom Davidow and Richard Narva," 433–443
Management: delegation, 340, 345; of entrepreneurial organization, 342; mechanistic, 340; by objectives, 338, 344; organic, 340–342; quasi-organic, 341–342, 344, 350
Management by objectives, 338, 344
Managers: career mobility, 347; and customer service (study), 303–323; recruitment, 346; women, 322
Marcus, G. E., "Law in the Development of Dynastic Families Among American Business Elites: The Domestication of Capital and the Capitalization of Family," 75–111
Money: as abstraction, 372; and entitlement/regression, 372–373; as language, 371, 373; overcoding, 373
Murdock, C. W., "Legal Perspective on Shareholder Relationships in Family Businesses: The Scope of Fiduciary Duties," 287–301
Murdock, M., "Legal Perspective on Shareholder Relationships in Family Businesses: The Scope of Fiduciary Duties," 287–301

N

Narva, R., interview, 433–443
Newly industrialized countries (NICs), 123, 161

O

"On Retirement: A Conversation with Daniel Levinson," 59–73
Outside boards: and CEO commitment, 281–282; CEO expectations, 282; CEO valuation, 279; characteristics, 272, 276–277; defined, 270; and family conflicts, 280; and family firms (study), 271–284; and Latin American grupos, 143–144; pros/cons, 269–271, 283; role, 279–280, 282; selection, 282; successful, 281–282; transition to, 280–281
"Outside Boards and Family Businesses: Another Look," 269–285
Owen, A. J., "Research Note: The Impact of Home-Based Business on Family Life," 425–432

P

Parents: and children's dependency, 14–15; and conflict resolution, 8–9, 14–15; motivations, 18; and sibling rivalry, 8–9
Paternalism: and company towns, 335–336; defined, 326; Kohler Company, 325–331
Pearsall, P., The Power of the Family, reviewed, 113–117
Peetre, P., Father, Son & Co.: My Life at IBM and Beyond, reviewed, 353–356
"Penetrating the Cycle of Sustained Conflict," 21–44
Perrow, E., "Understanding and Working with Leading Family Businesses in Latin America," 127–147
Power: proprietory control, 339–340, 350; and responsibility, 115–116; shareholders, 289; transfer issues, 408–409
Power of the Family, The, reviewed, 113–117
Private sector, Latin American, 127
Problem solving, sibling, 16
"Proprietorial Control in Family Firms: Some Functions of 'Quasi-Organic' Management Systems," 337–352
Proprietors: control, 339–340, 350; delegation, 340, 345; manager recruitment, 346; quasi-organic management, 341–342, 344, 350. See also Chief executive officers (CEOs)

R

Rational communications model, 24–26
Rational interactions model, 26–28
Relationship interdependence, 414–415
"Relationship Perspective on the Couple-Owned Business, A," 413–424
"Research Note: The Impact of Home-Based Business on Family Life," 425–432
Retirement: and adult development theory, 60–63; family farmers, 47–49;

Retirement (continued)
and generativity, 62; leadership, 64–65; as process, 62–63; psychological/social dynamic, 60; and women, 71–73. See also Succession
Rosenblatt, P. C., "The Interplay of Family System and Business System in Family Farms During Economic Recession," 45–57

S

Scase, R., "Proprietorial Control in Family Firms: Some Functions of 'Quasi-Organic' Management Systems," 337–352
Schmidheiny, S., interview, 205–223
Schwartz, M. A., "Outside Boards and Family Businesses: Another Look," 269–285
S. C. Johnson & Son, Inc., 356, 359
Second Shift: Working Parents and the Revolution at Home, The, reviewed, 463–466
Shareholders: and business judgment rule, 291; and corporate dissolution, 296–297; defined, 288; duty of fairness, 294; fiduciary duties, 293–296; litigation issues, 289–294; minority, rights, 294, 296; power, 289
Sibling/intergenerational relationships: and alliance building, 16–17; and autonomy vs. independence, 403–406; and bonding vs. competition, 400–403; changing, 4; and differentiation, 399–400; and egocentricity, 14; and empathy, 13; in family firms, 10–17; and fathers/daughters, 457–458; and fathers/sons, 456–457; ideal vs. abnormal, 6; and individual identity, 5–6; and individuation, 13; interdependency, 14; and intergenerational succession, 10–11; intersibling comparisons, 7; and justice mode, 8; and leadership, 406–408; and parental conflict resolution, 8–9, 14–15; and parental dependency, 14–15; and parental motivation, 18; and power transfer issues, 408–409; and problem-solving styles, 16; quality, 6–7; and repairing bonds, 11–16; and resentfulness, 13–14; and sibling subsystem, 450; and social skills, 6; stereotypy, 12–13; and third-party interventions, 12–17. See also Succession
"Sibling Relationships and Intergenerational Succession in Family Firms," 3–20
Sibling rivalry: in adulthood, 9; and bonding, 400–403; constructive, 3–4; denial, 4; destructive, 3; dysfunctional, 11–17; interventions, 12–16; and parental denial, 8; and parental reinforcement, 8–9; and reconciliation, 16–17; roots, 6–9
Small- and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs), 149
Social systems: and conflict, 23; defined, 22
Spanish family businesses (study), 192–201
Strategic management model for change, 182–183
STRATOS (strategic orientations of small- and medium-sized enterprises) project: background, 151; conclusions, 158–160; findings, 152–158; implications, 160; methodology, 151–152
Succession: coparcenary vs. primogeniture models, 163–166, 173–177 (case examples); East Asian firms, 162–177; economic consequences, 166–169; entrepreneurial firms, 353–355; family farms, 47–49, 55–56; founder/leader focus, 397; historical settings (East Asia), 169–171; Latin American grupos, 144–145; nonrelatives, 165–166; and power transfer issues, 408–409; sibling/intergenerational relationship approach, 398–410; and sibling relationships, 10–11; societal functions (East Asia), 171–173. See also Intergenerational transfer; Retirement
Sustained conflict cycle model: application by consultant (example), 37–41; application by therapist (example), 32–37; defined, 28–30; resolution method, 30–32; and shared fear, 30; and within-group conflicts, 32
Sveen, J., "Internationalizing the Family Business: Facilitating and Restraining Factors," 181–190
Swogger, G., Jr., "Assessing the Successor

Generation in Family Businesses," 397–411
Systems theory: and couple relationships, 418–420; and family, 448–449; and family firms, 383; individual form, 419; intergenerational form, 419–420; open, 445–446; systemic form, 419. See also Dual systems approach

T

Tannen, D., You Just Don't Understand: Women and Men in Conversation, reviewed, 466–470
Therapists: and business, 441; vs. consultants, 41–43; and countertransference, 437–438; family, 116–117, 287; and interfamily dynamics, 387. See also Family therapists
Third-party interventions. See Consultants
Thomassen, A. J., "Introducing the Family Business Network," 225–230
Time: family, 370; linear, 370; and transference issues, 371
Traits of a Healthy Family, reviewed, 113–117
Triangling, 450–451
Turpin, D., review by, 263–265

U

"Understanding and Working with Leading Family Businesses in Latin America," 127–147

W

Watson, T. J., Jr., Father, Son & Co.: My Life at IBM and Beyond, reviewed, 353–356
Welsch, J., "Family Enterprises in the United Kingdom, the Federal Republic of Germany, and Spain: A Transnational Comparison," 191–203
Whiteside, M. F., "Drawbacks of a Dual Systems Approach to Family Firms: Can We Expand Our Thinking?" 393–395
Winter, M., "Research Note: The Impact of Home-Based Business on Family Life," 425–432
Within-group (within-system, related-party) conflict, 22–24, 32
Women: communication issues, 466–70; development issues, 67–71; family business managers, 322; and grupos, 145; and retirement, 71–73; as working mothers, 463–464
Workplace trust, 310–311, 319–320

Y

You Just Don't Understand: Women and Men in Conversation, reviewed, 466–470